Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from the estable varieties of the blood of the bl from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by inercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or alegrous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constituplaints, but they have far less power to with-stand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which de-cunates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed, of all the organs, arise from or

It is not only the best remedy ever yet discovered for this class of complaints, but also the cheapest. The Arkansas was attacked by the gunboats, and deserted and blown up. This, according to the writer, was the cause of the failure at last.

It does not appear, however, that our troops were worsted at all. The writer describes their falling back, but admits that cast was declared duly chosen presiding offithey did terrible execution as they fell back, cer of the Senate during the absence of the and at last occupied a position from which the Confeds retreated. The result is, that after a bard fight, and nothing accomplished, Breckinridge retreated to a safer place, and there is no prospect that he will renew the attack. The loss in killed and wounded, on GOODLOE and GLENN took part. the Confederate side, the writer says, will not reach three hundred.

The casualities suffered were numerous, and Hardin Helm was badly hurt, by his horse falling and crushing his leg. Capt. A. Todd, (Mrs. Lincoln's half-brother,) was killed. Capt. W. S. Se De Kay tells us that the Confeds de clothing, although he says a few days before Breckinridge had addressed his brave and "ragged" Kentuckians. He does not tell us why they did not appropriate the clothing to their own use. This desperate effort to put the best face on the matter, only shows that Breckinridge & Co., were badly whipped.

The legislature is chiefly required to attend to military affairs; but it is worthy of consideration, whether that body had not better attend also to the indispensable business of the present legislature, before adjourning, and dispense with an adjourned session. The State is not yet apportioned for members of Congress, to be elected next August. There is still some unfinished business in relation to the State Prison. It will require but little time to attend to these matters; and some other legislation could as well be attended to as not, whilst the committee on Military Affairs are preparing their business.

The members of the legislature are as well informed now, and as well able now, to ters that need be done, as they will be in November.

men is to raise and put into the field an overwhelming force. As long as they are able to dispute the progress of our armies, we need not expect them to entertain the question of a re-construction of the Union. As long as our forces are only about equal to the enemy's, we are forced into the exasperating measures which provoke, rather than convince, and prolong the controversy at the cost of more treasure and more blood. What we want is plenty of military force; plenty of men; we then want dili gent, active officers, who will be always where they are wanted.

Our people and government understand be no excuse for half-way measures, that invite resistance and defiance.

Some of the Republican papers begin to protest loudly against these arrests. They begin to fear that some of the faithful will get into Fort Warren, or some other close quarters. The Abolitionists can't long escape, with any show of consistency on the part of the administration. Wonder what Stephens, Vice Presi dent of the land of Dixie, thinks of what he used to say for the Union, and against se cession? Has not bitter experience shown him that he was right then and that he is wrong now? Perhaps the secession distemper has perverted his vision, so that he now believes that crime is virtue, and misery, happiness.

We are constantly informed that the South will persevere; that there is no Union tion, which was referred to the Military sentiment in that region. THOS. B. MONEOE, JR.. Secretary of State. By Jas. W. Tare, Assistant Secretary. ATTENTION TAX PAYERS! THE attention of Tax payers of Franklin county is respectfully called to the following circular:

TO THE SHERIFFS OF KENTUCKY. The condition of the Treasury makes it necessary, for the purpose of carrying on the Govern-ment, that the revenue should be paid into the Treasury as early as possible, and that payments should be made whenever an amount sufficient to justify shall have been collected. I therefore most earnestly call upon the sheriffs of the State to use every exertion in their power to collect and pay in the revenue of their respective counties at the earliest possible day, that the credit of the State may not suffer for the want of means to pay of just claims against it. It would be a source of regret to me to take judgment against any of the sheriffs; but my duty will require me to enforce the law against any sheriff who falls to pay in the revenue by the time fixed by law.
